Advantages of working with Buskirk Lumber

- We've been in the industry for over 100 years!
- Full-time salaried timber buyers on staff
- Company-owned truck fleet
- BMP Compliance (Best Management Practices)
- Insured and Bonded
- Own and operate sawmills, serving Michigan and Northern Indiana
- Upon signing of the contract, we offer 10% down . We pay the remainder of the contract value in full prior to the start of the harvest.
- We are able to offer the best prices for timber when multiple woodlots are harvested in the same vicinity.

What is Woodlot Management?

Woodlot Management is the process of removing older, lower oxygen producing trees from your property in order to make room in the canopy for younger, higher oxygen producing trees to take their place. When working with Buskirk Lumber, we will evaluate your woodlot and help set-up a select harvest schedule — ideally every 7-10 years. As experts, we will never suggest or recommend cutting down trees that aren't necessary.

Benefits of Selling Direct

- ✓ We have all of the resources needed for your project — sawmills, dry kilns, pallet companies and our own trucking fleet and logging crews. No need to outsource any work and no additional costs.
- ✓ We are either primary or secondary end users of all products, so we take extra care when working with your land and timber.
- ✓ We are able to reduce the cost of equipment when multiple jobs are done in one area at the same time!

Types of Timber Buyers

Brokers (Middle Men)	<ul style="list-style-type: none">X They don't cut your timber themselvesX They resell cutting rights to third-party sawmillsX They make money by reselling your timber to other sawmills for more money.
Consulting Forester	<ul style="list-style-type: none">X They work with landowners to sell timber to sawmillsX They take a percentage of sale proceeds (an average of 15-20%)
Loggers	<ul style="list-style-type: none">X They will cut your timber, but they do not actually use the woodX They will resell your timber in log form to sawmills on a 60/40 split with the landowner Ex: If a 100k bdft job has a value of $100,000, the landowner would get $60,000 and the logger/producer would get $40,000. The $40,000 would be the cost of cutting/selling your timber.
Sell Direct	<ul style="list-style-type: none">X On a 100k bdft job valued at $100,000, a company logging crew would receive between $125 to $150 PT to cut timber, which would equal $15,000. The landowner would receive the remainder of $85,000. That's $15,000 MORE for their timber just for selling direct to a sawmill!
